The DPR Urban Master Composter Course is an 11-class course focused on training future compost leaders in DC taught by multiple local composting experts using a wide variety of methods throughout the District. This short course will focus 100% on multiple urban composting systems that are critter proof, environmentally responsible, bad odor free and functioning right now in DC. Learn the best practices and knowledge to set up each of these systems in any DC environment from the people who are leading DC's composting movement.
